Figure Painting Workshop

Instructor: Kerry Dunn

Haines ANB/ANS Hall- Haines, Alaska

July 6 – 10, 2020 | Monday – Friday

9 a.m – 4 p.m.

Tuition: $599

This Portrait Painting Workshop will focus on a five day long pose, working with a live model. The instructor will demonstrate from start to finish over the course of the five days. Every morning the instructor will demo from 9am - 11:00am in order to lead students with what they will work on for the day. The first day will focus on the grisaille stage, which uses a brown paint to establish the drawing. The instructor will illustrate how to get better proportions by calibrating abstract angle relationships, working from larger to smaller, basic anatomy and gesture. The second day the class will use flesh tones to block-in the planes of the structure, begin modeling the forms

'toward the light source', establishing a value range and further developing the anatomy. This will create the portrait as an under-painting. The third day a basic color theory will be introduced and color will be incorporated into the building process. Finally, students will be guided on how to build the 'finish pass' over the course of the last two days. This workshop is for beginner to advanced students. Some basic drawing experience is beneficial.

Kerry Dunn is a Studio Incamminati graduate, instructor and member of the school's Artistic Advisory committee. He has received numerous awards including recognition from the Art Renewal Center's International Salon Competition and the Portrait Society of America. American Artist magazine included him as "one of 25 Artists of Tomorrow."

Studio Incamminati artist Kerry Dunn will conduct a three hour painting demonstration on Tuesday, July 7th at ANB Hall from 6 -9 p.m.

The demo is free to the workshop participants and free to the general public.
